ASIDES

WE GET THE DREGS

Those who now are finding fault with the shooting of Batista strong men by Castro forces didn't have anything to say during the Batista reign when Cubans were being mistreated and riff-raff from America was cashing in on the island's profits. A compliment to Castro and a shame to the United States was the direction taken by these undesirables once the easy "take" was lost through the Castro victory. They came to America.

We seem unable to clamp down on the gangster mob in our nation. Our principal success along this line is to nail them for income tax avoidance. Despite public hearings in which the public sees the spectacle of mobsters exposed by Washington, they walk away freely and continue to operate.

There is something very wrong with our laws, or with those who enforce them, if honest citizens are not protected from the racketeers. Worse than that, millions of workmen are paying dues into unions whose leaders openly have business relations with such characters.

If either party fails to present a powerful legislative program this year for the purpose of cracking down on these leeches, we deserve a third party, even if it is socialist.

GIVE IT A CHANCE

More proof that educational television will prove popular is to be found in the current "Sunrise Semester" course in comparative literature which can be seen over Channel 4 out of Buffalo each morning at 7:30. At first the viewers failed to get our point, but now that it has operated for five weeks they are catching the fever.

So much so that you can't obtain the book to be discussed several weeks in advance at the Warren library. Madame Bovary, next week's book, was off the shelves a week ago.

In case you failed to save the list or perhaps never saw it, the books left on the program include: Hardy's "Return of the Native", DosToyevsky's "The Brothers Karamozov", Twain's "Huckleberry Finn", Zola's "Germinal", Mann's "Tonio Kroger and Death in Venice", Proust's "Swann's Way", Joyce's "A Portrait of the Artist as a RESIGNS. Dr. Raymon Kistler, former pastor of the Warren's First Presbyterian church, has resigned as president of Beaver College, effective June 30, 1960. In his nearly twenty years as head of the school he has raised the admission standards, required entrance board examinations, reduced the mortgage, established an endowment, improved facilities, and has added thirty acres to the campus.

He also directed the current long-range development program, the first phase of which was completed with the construction of a new dormitory and the remodeling of the music department. The second phase starts in the spring when funds will be sought for a new classroom building.

Dr. Kistler is a director of the Foundation for the Independent Colleges, and is a member of the executive committees of the Pennsylvania Association of Colleges and Universities and the Presbyterian College Union.

Young Man", Lewis' "Main Street", Gide's "The Counterfeiters", and Hemingway's "The Sun Also Rises".

Each book is given three to six days of attention, with the course ending April 17. You can estimate them accordingly.

next twenty years. Already it is on the run, as indicated by many comparisons.

Ten years ago the number of chest operations for TB was 1,200. Last year it was only eighty-six. Saranac had 1,700 patients in 165 sanitoriums shortly after the last war. Today it has fifty-seven patients, some of whom are remaining there simply to live out their old age. They refuse discharge. And only eleven sanitoriums are in use. The Adirondacks are looking to recreation in place of sanitoriums for their future.

At the turn of the century the number of deaths caused by this disease was two hundred for every 100,000 people. Today it is 7.8 per 100,000. It should be 0.3 per 100,000 by 1975.

But don't go to sleep. This kind of news can be dangerous. It will require an alert public to complete the defeat of this disease which today has a quarter of a million active cases and another 800,000 potentials. New drugs and medical advances can not win without periodic examinations of the individual.

BEST NEWS

The most optimistic bit we have read concerning economic conditions in many months is the report that the tool orders are moving upward. December was far above November and was way above the December of 1957. January is doing well, though the threat of higher costs may be pushing rush orders.

KNOW A GOOD THING

Perhaps we free men do not appreciate the educational advantages at our disposal, but not so those who are locked in our nation's jails. Inmates of penitentiaries have been taking agriculture and home economics courses by mail from Pennsylvania State University for the past thirty years. Those at Rockview were the first to take the courses.

Today there are 800 inmates of fifteen prisons studying these lessons. The penitentiaries involved range as far as California, Oregon, and Wisconsin.

NON-METALLIC LICENSE TAGS

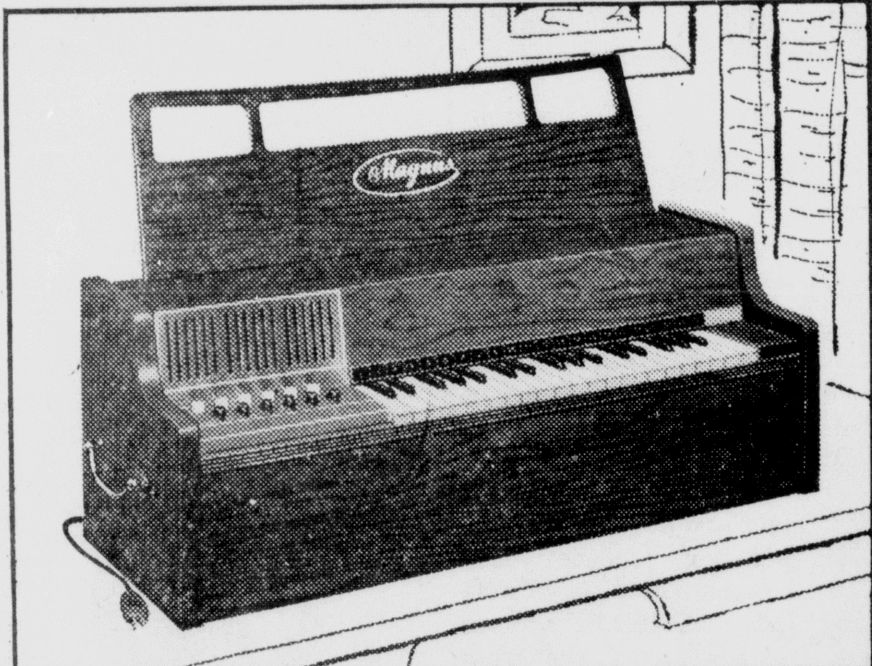

Your Pennsylvania car license renewal tags will not be made of metal this year. To save $160,000 in material costs, prevent ease of transfer from one license plate to another, and to aid visibility for law enforcement officers, pressure-sensitive stickers will be used.

Just clean the surface of your plate, remove the paper backing, and apply the sticker. It will stay. After it has been on for three or four days it will be impossible to remove it without destroying the tag.

It will be made of reflectorized material which can be seen easily in the dark. Four color combinations will be used for the vehicle classifications, yellow on blue for passenger cars, red on silver for school busses and trucks, blue on silver for taxicabs and busses, and green on silver for trailers.

WARREN COUNTY PLANNING

Many residents of Warren county are concerned about their property values and the future of their immediate area. So much so that some are considering the employment of planning experts to help zone their townships.

At the same time Warren county generally is faced with the same problem. This is especially so in the area which will be affected immediately by the construction of the Kinzua Cornplanter Allegheny river dam. If nothing is done to control the use of the land on the west side of the lake, and to make proposals concerning how the government is to utilize that on the east side of the big pond, our entire county will be adversely affected.

Because of these and many other obvious benefits to be gained through long range planning, the Warren county commissioners have appointed a Warren County Planning Commission. Last Friday this group held its first workshop, with Prof. I. Stollman, of Ohio State University, as speaker.

Mr. Stollman revealed that this kind of planning now is so popular throughout the nation that authorities on the subject are in such great demand they are difficult to employ. The advantages have become so apparent that all alert areas are rushing to prevent the misuse of their land and communities.

Many are too late, and the resultant difficulties are compounded by the lack of planning before expansion began and by the hodgepodge development which has tangled current efforts. In this respect Warren county is extremely fortunate. Most of its acres still are virgin territory, which can be planned for any use desired, or for which they are best suited.

Prof. Stollman advised against spending either too little or too much for this kind of work. The principal need is basic planning which will assure wise expansion and the proper placement of facilities, industry, homes, stores, farms, and some which may not occur to laymen.

You'll want at least two of these crisp fresh-looking Wonder-Lins with lace insert. They're wrinkle resistant and washable.

Obviously a two-pronged approach is required, inasmuch as we already are faced with some decisions, the planning must be more than a long-range effort. Though we must look far ahead and must prepare a flexible course to follow, we also must be acting immediately in those areas where the situation already is acute.

At least two we can name are Conewango twp. and the previously mentioned Kinzua area. And there are others which are expanding rapidly. Some kind of control to give the residents the opportunity to protect their property values and at the same time allow for intelligent expansion along the various lines wanted is needed soon.

This has been described as putting out local fires while preparing the long range plan. It actually is a need that can be considered critical for all of the county. What will be done in the various areas faced with these problems will affect every resident in this political subdivision.

In a previous column we discussed the effect the big dam can have on our economy. We urged immediate action so that Warren county would enjoy the most lucrative kind of tourist trade, which in our mind consists of the better class of visitors. This we can do by zoning our future lake banks and the land bordering them. Second-rate shanties should not be tolerated, and there are other uses which should be prohibited.

Prof. Stollman pointed up one angle to which we believe many governing groups could lend some attention with constructive results. He said that men elected or chosen to lead should do so. The average citizen lacks the time to make a study of every problem facing his area or community and it is the responsibility of leaders to do just that. Inform themselves . . . and lead.

It requires courage many times to take progressive steps. And there is little use taking any step unless you do it with full stride so that it has a chance to get somewhere. Too many are little but footsy feelers that can't be classified even as anemic shuffles.

An elected official who is convinced that a decision is right is a poor example of democratic officialdom if he isn't willing to make an adequate effort and face the wrath of the always-present fuddy-duddies whose major pastime is the application of blindfolds. Though it often requires a few years to prove a point through experience, the constituents are the eventual beneficiaries, if the leader who recognizes what is right acts accordingly. Such are few in number, and the buck is easily passed.

It is ridiculous for the several townships to set up separate plans for land use. It is more economical for all to join in a common effort. Thus there will be agreements concerning bordering land, and all benefits are relative in a county as small as ours.

We must decide what we want in our county and how to propose to meet the demand when it comes. We must direct the flow of new industry, new homes, and new cottages. We must consider highways, play areas, public utilities, and government facilities.

We must protect our values, but at the same time we must allow for intelligent growth. This is a large-scale approach which calls for large thinking, and a stifling of selfish interests.

It should not be pricked with half interest and a financially poor dally. Either we should do it right or forget the entire idea and let nature slap us down into a third-rate area, with no plan, no quality, no future. Eighteen other counties already have started. We will have a dam, factories where we don't want them, and slums on the rise, and most of the state leaving us behind if we don't keep abreast of the current. The time is now . . . or old Rip will look like a cat-napper.

BUYERS' CORNER

POSTAL RATE FIGHT

Higher first class rates are expected to be asked by the Washington administration to bring in a share of the $350 million postal revenue increase it talks about in 1960. Meanwhile it is expected that Postmaster Summerfield will try to obtain funds to cover the so-called free services which some enjoy, such as the publishers.

Though the big publishers are considered to be his target, the papers which thrive on mail service are the eight thousand small weeklies in the nation, most of which mail their copies to local subscribers at very low rates. In fact, that portion of the paper's weight which represents the news goes at no cost to boxholders.

Tied in with this current maneuver is the sudden elimination of the committee which was headed by John Blatnik, Minn. Democrat. This committee has investigated the advertising used by makers of toothpaste, tranquilizers, and weight reducers.

This didn't hurt the committee much, but it then took on some powers in the advertising field. The filter cigarette ads were given a close look, and the cosmetics promoters were about to be scrutinized.

The committee also had been checking the use of the public relations division by Postmaster Summerfield to support rate increases. Some believe this combination was too much for a small subcommittee. Intended to protect the public from abuses of our major publicity mediums, it suddenly is kaput.

COLD WAR CONTRADICTIONS

While Anahist and Vicks are telling you to take their medicine and go have fun, Bayer aspirin and Bufferin are staying with the rule of taking their pills, drinking fruit juice, and going to bed. Also see a doctor. The American Medical Association offers no comment, but has been quoted as saying that the Anahist and Vicks products may give temporary relief but do not cure the common cold.

We suggest there is another reason for cracking down on the ads which encourage you to swallow a pill and go dancing. You may feel great, but how about the cold germs you may pass around?

WHO SOLD THE MOST BEER

In view of the many excessive claims which are poured into your ears by way of radio and television, perhaps you would be interested in learning who really did have the most popular brew last year. The top brewery was Anheuser-Busch, which sold nearly seven million barrels.

That was an increase of 14 per cent. Next was Schlitz, which stayed in second place even though its annual sales dropped 2.2 per cent, down to 5,893,000 barrels. But Schlitz beer is the leading brand. Anheuser-Busch maintains the lead with the sale of several brands.

Next in line are Falstaff, Ballentine, and Carling, in that order. All showed gains. (Source, Modern Brewery Age)

RADIO LOSES LISTENERS

Proof that even in this fringe area radio has lost its audience to television was found in the recent Warren flood emergency. Every person whose plumbing was lost in the freeze which followed the highwater apparently did not hear the radio.

Constant warnings were broadcast, telling homeowners to shut off their water at the meter and drain the pipes. Few did so and the plumbers are having a big season in the lowlands. Asked why they didn't take the safety step, several told us they never have the radio on, except when the news is broadcast.

Though we are competitors with radio for advertising dollars, we are not attempting to reveal its weakness through this publicity. Our thought is that radio deserves better than this. And there should be some way during major emergencies to let the public know.

If an emergency exists we suggest television stations which reach the affected area should be ordered to include in their station break announcements the recommendation that residents of the stricken section turn on their radios immediately. It might be well to make it a Conelrad type of break on a local level.

LOCAL INSURANCEMAN WRITES

As a result of our comments on health insurance in last week's column we have received a letter from a Warren insurance man who suggests that the policy being offered to people over sixty-five for $6.50 a month may be of a very limited nature. He also points out the advantages of buying a policy with deductible provisions, which of course comes cheaper because it eliminates abuses, such as charging the company huge sums for a few days' illness when no more may be taken than aspirin.

Our mention of the $6.50 a month policy was intended only as a proof that much will be heard this year concerning this kind of coverage. We constantly have advised our readers to study their actual policy. What it says, it must do. And that is all it will do. Make your own decision.

Our basic proposals concerning health insurance were twofold:

1. You must pay for good coverage and to us the best coverage is that which pays the average sick family the costs of the average illness. You may think differently.

2. To be perfectly fair, you should decide what you want, then ask for prices. If the various policies vary in coverage you will find it difficult to choose the best buy.

(And we repeat. Read the fine print.)

In Brief

FLOOD COMMITTEE STARTS. The newly created flood committee of the Warren Area Chamber of Commerce conducted its initial planning session Wednesday afternoon and expressed complete agreement to contact the four levels of government--borough, county, state and federal--and urge that necessary flood control action be taken here immediately.

The committee consists of Merle W. Kremer, chairman, Bernard Gofberg, vice chairman, Stuart J. Myers, Harold Curtis, James Frantz, W. R. Walker, James Torrance and D. E. Conaway.

While the group did not feel necessarily qualified to decide now what flood control measures should be taken, it agreed to agitate the bodies who will eventually take the final steps.

The Chamber committee agreed to spearhead the attack and invites the cooperation of other interested local groups. It will offer its support to the various levels of government and will plan a series of meetings with same in its program.

NO NEW EXECUTIVE has been secured by the Warren Area Chamber of Commerce to replace Charles R. Tranter, who leaves the executive vice president post this week to take a position with the United Refining Co.

To date two local men and several out-of-towners have been interviewed for the post, but no selection has been made.

BURNS TO GROUND. A barn owned by Howard Thompson, located one mile out of Lander on the Sugar Grove-Russell rd., was completely destroyed by fire Tuesday night and took with it the lives of four cattle and 40 sheep. Several pieces of machinery were also lost in the blaze.

The old structure started in flames about 7 o'clock in the evening. It was noticed early but went up fast with the help of aged timbers, and hay which was stored in the structure. The actual loss had not been estimated as of Wednesday night.

About 100 men and five trucks from the volunteer fire departments in Lander, Russell and Sugar Grove responded to the alarm.

A BUSY NIGHT. Warren police and fire officials are continuing their investigation of a possible arson case and the armed robbery of a local drug store -- a pair of events which occurred almost simultaneously last Friday night.

The initial event of the night's activity started at 10:21 p.m. when fire broke out in the rear of Hedberg's Gift Shop which is housed in the Exchange Hotel building on Pennsylvania ave., W. Approximately $1500 damage was caused by the blaze which firemen believed was started by a faulty light switch.

In furthering their investigation at the scene, firemen found a cabinet on fire in an unoccupied second floor room of the hotel. Arson is suspected. The cabinet was empty and there was no evidence that it was caused by anything but a human act. A fire investigator from Erie was called in Monday and will return later this week.

To add to the evening's mysteries at 10:25 p.m. police attending the fire were notified by Raymond Seastead, owner and manager of Mullen Drug Co. across the street from the hotel that he had been held up by an armed bandit.

He told police that he was checking out at the rear of the store when he heard a tap on the window of the back door. Upon looking up, he stated, he saw a man wearing a woman's stocking over his face and white cloth over his head with a gun. The bandit ordered the owner to open the door and then the safe, from which $400 in cash was taken. Seastead was ordered to the front and told not to call anyone for 10 minutes.

The masked man was described as between 21 and 23 years of age, 5-8 in height, 175 pounds, and was wearing an old brown overcoat and brown jersey gloves.

A special investigator from the Erie State Police barracks is working with local police on the case.

OUTSTANDING YOUNG MAN. Richard Betts, vice president of the Betts Machine Co. and active member of many of the community's service organizations, was named Warren's "Outstanding Young Man of the Year" at the annual Jaycee Bosses' Night Banquet last Thursday.

NOT SO, say officials in regard to the widespread rumor in town that the NuWay Market on lower Market st. was burglarized over the past week and a large sum of money taken.

EARLY CONSTRUCTION of the Kinzua Dam and other measures that will provide the earliest possible protection from floods was the motion carried by the retail division of the Warren Area Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night.

The gathering was the last regular one for the present executive committee, a new committee of merchants to be named later this month.

WARREN DOLLAR DAYS FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

ELECTED PRESIDENT at the annual organizational meeting of the Warren Area Chamber of Commerce last Thursday were Donald E. Conaway, president; Merle W. Kremer, first vice president; Ray J. Reed, second vice president; Ray Stein, secretary; Harold McNulty, treasurer; and John Haggerty, assistant treasurer.

At the same meeting the directors met with the three industrialists representing the West Side plants most severely hit in the recent flood--DeLuxe Metal, Betts Machine and Warren Concrete Products. The Chamber was urged to help speed action on flood control and followed up the request by appointing a committee to help find a solution.

DEADLINE. February 15 is the deadline for ordering low cost, State Nursery grown forest tree seedlings. The highly recommended species still available are Red Pine, White Pine, Austrian Pine and Norway Spruce--trees which produce local wood products. Hemlock is desirable for fill in and watershed planting. A limited supply of Chinese Chestnut seedlings may be ordered for wildlife purposes.

Request an application and free bulletin, "Trees To Plant in Pennsylvania", by sending a postal card to District Forester, Box 807, Warren, Pa.

RADIO STATION SOLD. Radio Station WADP, in Kane, which was built in May of 1954 and since that time operated by the Northern Allegheny Broadcasting Co. of Warren, has been purchased by Myers Laboratories, Inc., a local drug manufacturing firm.

Negotiations were completed early this week between David Potter, president of the broadcasting company, and Gordon Hanks, president of Myers. Applications for the transfer have been filed with the FCC and the new owners expect to take over management upon approval in about 60 days.

Mr. Hanks will also be president of the new firm which will be known

CANDIDATE. L. L. Johnson, Youngsville businessman and county commissioner for the past two terms, will be a candidate for reelection to the office of commissioner subject to the Republican voters at the May primaries.

He has served with the Youngsville Fire Dept. for the past 30 years, 13 of which he was chief. He also helped organize County Active Volunteer Firemen's Assoc. and was a member of the Youngsville School Board for 20 years.

as Kane Broadcasting Corp. WADP is now a wholly owned subsidiary of Myers Laboratories.

The present staff at the station will be retained.

NO JURY TRIALS are listed for court Monday, February 9, so the jurors summoned have been excused.

APPOINTED CHAIRMAN. Miss Sunny Lucia, vice chairman of the Warren County Council of Republican Women, has been appointed registration chairman for the group. Plans for the next council meeting on February 26 will be announced later.

WARREN COUNTY PLANNING COMMISSION is formulating a plan of action and proposed budget to present to the county commissioners.

Work started after the commission, along with other county officials, participated in a work shop here last week end. The speaker for the sessions was Dr. Israel Stollman, head of the Ohio State University Planning Department and former director of the Youngstown, O., Planning Commission.

70 WARREN MERCHANTS will participate in Dollar Days which start with the opening of stores at 9:30 Friday morning. Merchants will be open until 9 Friday night and all day Saturday until 5.

Some fires were lighted by Chet Huntley's program, "The Second Agony of Atlanta", last Sunday, when he suggested the N.A.A.C.P. had outlived its value and should be liquidated. Over two hundred protesting calls were received within twenty minutes, and as a result the Huntley program this coming Sunday will offer time to all views on the subject, from 6:30 to 7 p.m. Actually the program very much favored integration, despite the fact that it was televised at a PTA meeting, with spontaneous comments.

How Easter Was Chosen And Our Choice Today

(Bob Walsh)

The calling of an ecumenical council by Pope John XXIII suggests to us that many people may wonder how the date for Easter was determined. To make it very simple, Easter each year falls on the Sunday that follows the first full moon which comes after March 21. Thus the first date possible is March 22 and the latest is April 25. This year it is March 29.

Ash Wednesday starts the Lenten season and is forty days previous to Easter, not counting Sundays. This is next Wednesday, February 11.

And so we get back to ecumenical councils, one of which in 325 A.D., held in Nicea, drew up the Nicene Creed and decided how Easter would be dated. It is believed the importance of moonlight in the travels of those early days was involved in the selection.

Now, over 1600 years later, another council is being called, the 21st of its kind, with the hope that a way to accomplish the return to the "common home" can be found. Though the Eastern Orthodox Church and leaders of major Protestant denominations welcome efforts which will bring Christians closer together, it is unlikely that "a return to Rome" will appeal to most of the 210 million descendants of those who followed Martin Luther in his sixteenth century objections.

The persecution of Eastern Orthodox Church clergy in communist countries causes some to hope that a joining of forces will appeal to the 130 million Orthodox members. They have a Patriarch of Constantinople whom they consider their head, but only on an equal basis with a dozen others.

its 496 million members can offer much support to these oppressed. In such critical times major changes that ordinarily seem impossible can be effected.

But if unity means "yield" to Rome, neither of the major groups being wooed is apt to be interested. The Pope's primacy represents the basic difference separating the three.

However, in the weeks immediately ahead perhaps some concert of action can result, inspired by those days which should bring every Christian very close to the truths of his religion. In the crucifixion of Christ and the events which followed we find that on which all denominations are based if they be truly Christian.

Thought of a combined front by all Christians appeals to many who believe this is necessary to meet the communist threat. The ecumenical proposal has aroused the interest of millions of laymen who most of the time prefer to accept their faith blindly and give its background very little thought.

A study of the twenty-one ecumenical councils which determined many of our church policies is interesting reading and some of the press has endeavored to satisfy the public's wish for enlightenment. Perhaps in this Easter season the millions involved can discuss the subject without heat and with a sincere effort toward a respectful understanding.

Play Time

DRAMA - TV - RADIO - MUSIC - READING - HOBBIES

THE WORLD MUST PLAY

To some people the word "play" is limited to thoughts of paper dolls or a sand box in the back yard. You then are supposed to grow up in earnest, and keep your nose on the dollar mark the rest of your life.

This living in earnest plays a major part in the world's tenseness today. Though we have international relations with most countries in sporting fields, it is confined to competitive action, and the Russians take this so seriously that they regiment their manpower to make a good showing.

This forces our amateurs to meet their mercenaries and is far from a fair comparison of our physical abilities. However, the relations are a help because they bring people of the various countries together on a level which is at least partly removed from diplomacy and protocol.

But there is much more to play than major competition. To assure healthy use of the leisure hours which much of the world now finds available, facilities and skills are required. And perhaps even more important is the need for leadership.

In the United States much help has been provided to thousands of communities by wealthy men who many years ago established the National Recreation Association. Its purposes are many, but they can be compacted into this thought, learn the easy way through the experience of others.

The services of this Association have been utilized by Warren to a very small degree. We have a flexible, long-range plan for the expansion and creation of play facilities. More help is available if we want it.

But we are not dealing today with our own experience and need, except as they apply to the world as a whole. What has been started and already has been much used in America, now is being attempted on a world-wide scale.

The International Recreation Association has been formed and "is helping to develop the kind of climate in which the peace machinery of the world will have a better chance to function," according to Lord Luke of Pavenham, chairman of the Association when he spoke to the board at the United Nations, January 26.

He also said, "In recent years real progress has been made in fashioning machinery for peace in the form of international organizations of many kinds, led, of course, by the United Nations itself. But, no matter how much machinery exists, it can function only if the right atmosphere is created also."

Lord Luke is chairman of Bovril, Ltd., and a director of Lloyds Bank. He also serves as chairman of the National Playing Fields Association of England and is a member of the International Olympic committee for Great Britain.

Americans serving on the board include Mrs. Howard Braucher, Howard Henderson, Mrs. William L. Matheson, Thomas E. Rivers, Mrs. William L. Van Alen, and Robert Wilder, of Warren.

A recent news release provides additional information concerning the purposes and work of the Association. It reads:

"The IRA provides a medium through which recreation leaders of the world may work in unity on one of the common problems of man to the end that children everywhere may play safely, youth may be strong in mind and body and character, understanding among peoples may be fostered, leisure will be used for life enrichment for all, and world tensions may be reduced." T. E. Rivers, Director General, reported to the board.

"Other services reported were: 'Thirty-one leaders from twenty countries studied recreation in the United States of America in programs co-sponsored with the U. S. Department of State. Nearly 100 United States communities provided hospitality.

"Scores of other leaders from twenty-four countries have been referred to IRA for programming in all parts of the world.

"Professional recreation leaders have been placed in several strategic areas of the world for long-time service.

"Ten countries have taken steps to form new national recreation associations.

"Recreation supplies and equipment have been sent to the United Nations Emergency Force stationed in the Gaza Strip.

"The IRA, now entering its third year, maintains a central service office for the world's recreation agencies, provides field service to countries desiring help with organizing national recreation agencies, cooperates with the United Nations, publishes the IRA Bulletin, conducts exchange programs.

"The report pays tribute to the dedicated service of professional and lay leaders who volunteered their time and in many cases paid their own expenses to carry the message of life enrichment through recreation to the far corners of the earth. Some twenty-two leaders served IRA as volunteers.

"Lord Luke left immediately for South America where he will hold meetings for International Recreation Association in Argentina, Chile and Peru.

"The IRA is a world service agency supported by voluntary contributions with headquarters at 345 East 46th Street, New York 17, New York. The budget for 1959 is for $250,802."

NETWORK PROGRAMS OMITTED

Next Sunday afternoon while those viewers having WGR reception are enjoying the NBC network presentation "Kaleidoscope" as it presents Ben Hecht's drama "The Third Commandment", the rest of us will have to switch to another network or sit through a re-run of "Shirley Temple's Storybook-Rip Van Winkle".

It was with a mixture of disappointment and disgust that we noted both WJAC and WICU omitting the network programming and scheduling the Shirley Temple repeat series which includes seven more shows and runs through June 14. We wonder what other worthwhile late Sunday afternoon programs we will have to forego because these two channels have picked up the series mentioned. The series is being televised by ABC on a repeat basis from the original NBC telecasts and it is difficult to understand why the two stations think their viewers can sit wide awake through another performance of sleepy "Old Rip".

If they must borrow from ABC, then why not make it a choice of one of that network's better programs and at a time when it won't be necessary to sacrifice good NBC shows. If finances are involved, the sponsors will get a poor return on their investment as most sets will be switched to a competitive network or viewers will elect to take that Sunday afternoon snooze. We do have a choice, after all.

ANOTHER RIGGING

The CBS show "For Love or Money" has been dropped by that network because it used a decimal machine to select the winner and this machine was found to be "not free from control". Considering the number of programs that have made their exit in the past year because of "control" or "fixing" it appears that the American public has spent much of its time being duped.

IN THE FUTURE

"SOME OF MANIE'S FRIENDS", a special colorcast starring the greatest collection of showbusiness headliners ever assembled for one television show, will be presented on the NBC network Tuesday, March 3, from 7:30-9 p.m.

The program will pay tribute to the late Emanuel Sacks, an NBC executive, and will star Edgar Bergen, Sid Caesar, Rosemary Clooney, Nat King Cole, Perry Como, Eddie Fisher, Harry James and Betty Grable, Tony Martin, Dinah Shore, Frank Sinatra, Kay Starr, Jane Wyman, plus other big names who were friends of Manie.

THE OSCAR AWARDS CEREMONY will be presented over the NBC network Monday, April 6, 10:30-12:15 p.m. This marks the seventh consecutive year NBC has carried the Motion Picture Academy Awards program.

EMMY AWARDS, too, will be presented by NBC for the fifth consecutive year. This annual recognition of top performers and shows by the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences will be seen Wednesday, May 6, 10-11:30 p.m.

THE SECRET OF FREEDOM, a first television drama by Pulitzer Prize-winning author, poet and playwright Archibald MacLeish, will be presented in a full-hour telecast by NBC at a date to be announced. The play will deal with democracy's world-wide rivalry with communism, and filming begins in March. Outstanding actors of the theatre and motion pictures will be featured.

THE BLACK CAT, a half-hour filmed series dealing with the story-behind-the-story on a big city newspaper, has been acquired by NBC but no date has been announced for the premiere telecast.

DIAL SPINNERS

FRIDAY

THE PHIL HARRIS SHOW (NBC channels, 8-9 p.m.) will set the mood for nostalgia with its many songs of the past, sung by Alice Faye and husband Phil Harris, guest stars Dean Martin and Betty Hutton. The musical group of Red Nichols and His Five Pennies will also be featured.

PERSON TO PERSON visits with Fidel Castro and his son in their apartment hotel in Havana, Cuba.

Edward R. Murrow's second visit will be the Stockbridge, Mass. home of illustrator Norman Rockwell and his wife. WBEN, 10:30 p.m.

SATURDAY

TEN FOR SURVIVAL, the educational series on WJAC at 2 p.m., in its second program will discuss "Knowledge Is Survival", with Dr. Loren Eiseley, chairman of the Department of Anthropology, University of Pennsylvania, as guest. This will be an exploration of the evolution of man and how he has arranged for his own survival, and the evolution of the group society as one of the basic instruments of survival. Fundamental to the discussion will be this fact: man has passed from a reliance on instinct to an utter dependence on knowledge, a fact the average citizen does not realize.

SUNDAY

LET'S LOOK AT CONGRESS, 12:15 p.m. on WBEN-TV, will present Senator Kenneth B. Keating (R., N.Y.) as he interviews Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson.

TALK BACK, the religious series produced by the National Council of Churches and sponsored by the Methodist Television Ministry, will be presented at 2:30 p.m. on WBEN-TV. The story "Forget Richards" will be dramatized. It deals with situations that result from the complexity of business operations. Rev. David Poling, pastor of Lafayette Presbyterian Church, moderates the "live" panel discussion which follows the drama.

WISDOM begins its series of conversational visits with some of the eminent doers and thinkers of our time, the initial program at 2-2:30 p.m. on WJAC with Edith Hamilton. Edith Hamilton is considered by many to be the foremost living authority on the ancient civilization of Greece and Rome.

FACE THE NATION, 4 p.m. on WBEN-TV, will find Sen. John F. Kennedy, ranking Democratic member of the Senate Labor Investigating Committee, being interviewed by a panel of newsmen. Last Sunday, Sec. of Labor Mitchell discussed the Administration's labor legislation program and it is expected that Sen. Kennedy will have something to say about the labor bill which he himself has introduced.

ASK WASHINGTON, an NBC network presentation at 4:30-5 p.m., will be comprised of panel guests Martin Agronsky, David Brinkley, Richard Harkness, Esther Van Wagener Tufts, and moderator Bryson Rash. Observer readers with questions of national or international interest which they would like to have discussed on this program may address their questions to "Ask Washington", NBC-Box 4, Washington 4, D.C.

NBC KALEIDOSCOPE at 5-6 p.m. on WGR will present "The Third Commandment", a modern play by Ben Hecht telling of a man who violates the commandment, "Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain". Arthur Kennedy stars as a newspaperman turned false evangelist, with Anne Francis as co-star and a strong supporting cast.

SMALL WORLD, 6 p.m. on WBEN, will continue the discussion on the comparison of legal philosophies of their respective countries as begun last week by Boston attorney Joseph N. Welch, French Advocate Maitre Suzanne Blum and eminent British jurist Sir Norman Birkett.

20TH CENTURY at 6:30 p.m. on WBEN presents "The Frozen War", a documentary of the World War II invasion of a Japanese task force on the Aleutian Islands.

TUESDAY

BELL TELEPHONE HOUR presents "American Festival" at 8-9 p.m. on NBC channels. Stars will be Duke Ellington, Ella Fitzgerald, Rise Stevens, Grant Johannesen, Melissa Hayden, and others, plus the New York City Ballet.

BOB HOPE BUICK SHOW will be seen on WJAC at 9:30-10:30 p.m. Guests will be Maureen O'Hara, Danny Thomas and Carol Haney.

WEDNESDAY

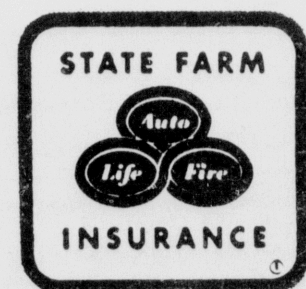

MEET MR. LINCOLN, an NBC special projects program at 8:30-9 p.m., portrays Lincoln as his contemporaries saw him. By use of a wealth of authentic Americana never before tapped for television, the program will bring Lincoln and his era to life from period photographs, prints, posters and drawings.

AN EVENING WITH FRED ASTAIRE, NBC channels at 10-11 p.m., is a repeat on video tape of the dancing and music special highly acclaimed by viewers and critics. With Astaire will be the Jonah Jones Quartet, David Rose and His Orchestra, Barrie Chase who made her debut as Astaire's dance partner, and a 16-member mixed dancing group.

THURSDAY

PLAYHOUSE 90 at 9:30-11 p.m. on WBEN, presents the drama "The Second Man", starring James Mason, Margaret Leighton, Hugh Griffith and Diana Wynyard.

"CHOOSING CHILDREN'S Magazines and Encyclopedias" is the subject of a talk by Miss

ROBERT MOSLEY

Mendelssohn's Oratorio, Elijah, will be offered by a chorus of 93 community singers in a musical service to be conducted at 4 p.m. Sunday, February 15, in the sanctuary of the First Presbyterian Church. The guest soloist will be Robert Mosley, well-known baritone of Pittsburgh, who will sing the part of Elijah.

Other soloists are Romaine Ericsson, soprano; Zora King, soprano; Violet Borg, contralto; Robert Dietsch, tenor; and Everett Borg, baritone. Carroll Fowler will direct and Richard Sidey will accompany on the Casavant organ.

Also to be heard in portions of the music are the Junior Choir and The Treble Choir of the Westminster Choristers, youth groups of the host church.

Plans are being made to handle an overflow congregation in the basement of the church, where the music may be heard satisfactorily over the sound system. The committee is making such arrangements as people had to be turned away from last year's presentation.

Sleeping Beauty in a Trailer

"The Peter Tschaikowsky Story" on A.B.C.'s "Walt Disney Presents" the other night followed the classic outlines of composer biography, a rather special form of drama much loved by the movies. There was the boy tossing and turning and muttering: "The music! The music! It won't let me sleep!" So the nurse comes in and comforts the little boy with a story:

"Here is a story you have not heard -- 'The Sleeping Beauty,'" she says and reads it to him, as the pulsating music Tschaikowsky wrote for his ballet "The Sleeping Beauty" begins to clear its throat in the background. There is something intrinsically ridiculous about a composer sitting down and playing around with a piece of music that is already as familiar as most of Tschaikowsky's is.

The Disney people avoided this trap but they couldn't avoid them all. The meeting with Rubinstein, for example, and the great pianist snorting: "Bread? Did Bach, Mozart and Beethoven worry about bread?" I imagine they all did. Then, when his girl marries someone else, the vow never to write another note. Later, his "Swan Lake" is murdered by the critics, those bores, a fate that overtakes every composer whose life was made into a film.

Still, while the acting and writing were rudimentary, the music was glorious and that alone made the show worth listening to. Walt Disney, as his own emcee, introduced stereophonic sound to television by advising people to turn on ABC radio with their television. I did just that and I must say the stereophonic sound was great. We must do this more often.

An attempt to bring wide screen to TV, however, was just a little absurd. You can't make a twenty-one inch screen any wider. What the Disney people did was cut the top and bottom off the picture as they showed bits of the Disney picture "Sleeping Beauty." I guess we're never going to get Cinema-scope on television until they invent a new kind of picture tube.

As you've guessed, the Tschaikowsky story was just a big trailer for one of Mr. Disney's feature pictures, "Sleeping Beauty," and you'll have to pay money to see that in the theaters. From the beginning, Disney has used television as a big come-on for his pictures and I'm awed by his ability to make a good show out of a trailer. At the end of this movie trailer, he appended a trailer for next week's Disney show, one trailer providing a trailer for another. There's no end to it.

Sunday was our day for a low bow to the folk arts of other lands. On CBS, that great art-lover Ed Sullivan ran a kinescope of those superb folk dancers, the Moiseyev, with their wildly exuberant and explosively energetic dances. This just gets to be a greater treat the more often you see it. I've now seen the Moiseyev three times and I'd just as soon see it all over again if Mr. Sullivan has the rights.

These kind of dance shows ought to be repeated on television and I'm very happy the Fred Astaire show is going to be with us again (NBC, Feb. 11th, 10-11 p.m.).

The other folk outpouring, if you can call it that, was on the Chevy show, presided over by Shirley MacLaine, that magnificently impish and talented young lady. The Chevy people, in a burst of genius, imported a plenitude of show business talents from Japan and put on an all-Japanese show in color. I heartily approve this sort of international cross-pollination and I think television should do more of it.

Our own exuberant folk arts have spilled over into foreign lands so why shouldn't we welcome those of other people's? In fact, our rock

NEW DEMOCRATIC CHAIRMAN for Warren County is Frank A. Fago, committeeman from Warren's Eighth ward, and vice chairman of the Warren County Democratic Committee for the past three years. Mr. Fago replaced Worth Hammond in the top administrative post of the Democratic Party when Hammond resigned after being appointed Superintendent of Highways.

Fago's promotion was announced at a dinner-meeting of the County Committee in the Warren Y.W.C.A. last Saturday evening. Another item of interest for the more than 100 who attended was the "kick-off" of the 1959 campaign by County Commissioner Lewis L. Crippen who charged the Republican Court House officials with "inefficiencies", "questionable ethics", and "interpretations of law which have led to selfishness and personal financial advancements".

In a prepared statement released early this week, Fago said, in part: "The Democratic Party wants to go on record favoring a more progressive county. We are anxious to work with business leaders, merchants large and small, and, in fact, all civic minded citizens along with progressive organizations interested in a vital future. We are not concerned primarily with party label. What we want to do is take the responsible leadership which should help provide essentials of a Democratic system. We feel the people of Warren County are now anxious and hopeful for this."

"Consequently, the Democratic Party of Warren County is currently preparing a slate of candidates to fulfill the responsibilities of public office. Our organization has invited a public scrutiny of Democrats while in office."

'n' roll has so thoroughly girdled the globe that the Japanese entertainers brought it back on this show. Another feature of the MacLaine show was a comedy skit -- and a very good one -- on that Japanese sport, baseball. In fact, the only strictly Japanese skit was called "The Rice Pounders" and it was marvellous.

About the most Japanese personality on the show was Miss MacLaine who did a demure commercial for Chevrolet as a sort of Kubuki monologue. Miss MacLaine's personality is one of the wonders of Western civilization and I only wish she had danced a bit more on this show. She's a doll.

You folks who haven't got color television are sure missing it on shows like this. Miss MacLaine in a white flower-studded kimono, the gay red and blue curtains, the dove gray screens were so eye-filling that it's as if we are seeing another show entirely. The designers of the Chevy productions, have been doing a superb job and it must be heartbreaking that so few color set owners can see them, particularly their lovely openings (this one was shown in the reflection of a pool) which are marvellously ingenious and colorful. I might add that I don't own a nickel's worth of RCA stock but I do wish more people would buy color sets because then we'd have more color TV productions.

TWO DIRECTORS OF EDUCATION ARE NAMED BY BOROUGH SCHOOL BOARD

The Warren Borough School Board convened Monday night and named two principals to act as directors of education in the elementary buildings. Elected were David Olson, who will serve the East Street, Home Street and Jefferson buildings, and Paul Mutzabaugh, who will assist Lacy, McClintock, Seneca and South Street schools.

Angelo DiMino was engaged to assist Mr. Olson as principal at Jefferson and Richard Stone, now instructing English in Beaty and a former acting principal, will assume Mr. Mutzabaugh's principalship at East Street.

The move is designed to give all elementary teachers additional help in curriculum, textbook selection, and instructional program.

This action by the board was not taken to fill the now vacant post of director of instruction and curriculum. A special committee is presently interviewing candidates for the position.

A playground staff of 20 members was engaged for the summer. They are Betty DeLong, Ronald Howard, Larry Mong and Josephine Tigani, new applicants; Nancy Clapp, James Johnson, Richard Kauffman, Margaret Kifer, Lorraine Mader, Joseph Massa, Jo Ann Marshall, Vernon Maulk, Faith Mong, Harold Miller, Paul Myers, David Olson, Gloria Peterson, Dan Stimmell, Marilyn Vesling and Eugene Williams, all who were previously employed.

The finance committee presented bills totaling $95,921, $39,646 of which was to the Warren Area Joint School Board for the operation of the junior and senior high schools and $43,140, the third payment to the joint board for the authorities on Beaty and the new high school building.

Current bills amounted to $340, substitutes employed; $422, recreation services; $244, special services; $368, janitors' overtime; $530, orders written; $558, milk program.

Receipts registered for the month were $420, Dept. of Public Instruction reimbursement on the November milk fund; $685, interest on the Beaty Fund from the Warren Bank & Trust Co.; $1,024, dividend on the 1958 group insurance program from the Equitable Insurance Co.

Actual enrollment figures for the elementary buildings from 1954 to the present were reported as follows: 1954-55, 1624; 1955-56, 1648; 1956-57, 1699; 1957-58, 1730; 1958-59, 1763. The estimated enrollments for the next five years are: 1959-60, 1765; 1960-61, 1794; 1961-62, 1846; 1962-63, 1861; 1963-64, 1871. The increase from the current year to 1963-64 is 108 students.

It was also revealed by the superintendent that all teachers under temporary contract, those teaching during their first two years in Pennsylvania, have been rated satisfactory.

No flood damage was afflicted on the schools during the recent flood, but over 55 additional hours of overtime were worked by employees guarding against damage.

A tape recorder was purchased for East Street and South Street with the PTA and activities funds to pay half; permission was given Mrs. Pauline Newman to attend the Dental Training Conference at Penn State April 9-11.

DRAGONS STOP FRANKLIN

Playing good offensive and defensive ball on the same night, the Warren High School cagers handed the Franklin Knights their first Section II, District 10 loss of the season and their first setback of the 1958-59 campaign on their home court when they dumped the Knights, 59 to 50, last Friday night. The Knights have beaten every Section II, District 10 team with the exception of Warren.

The Blue and White penetrated Franklin's pressing zone defense to take an early lead which they maintained during the entire contest. Although they led by 13 points at the start of the fourth period, the Knights were reluctant to concede defeat and cut their deficit to 9 points by the end of the game.

Aiding in the team victory was Bill Brumagim's defensive play which choked off Franklin's high scoring Lynch and allowed the Knight to score only two baskets and six points during the game.

Mike Cashman returned to the lineup and besides helping the Dragons in the rebounding department chipped in with 17 points. Nicky Creola scored 18.

WHS MATMEN TOP TITUSVILLE

Warren High School wrestlers ran their unbeaten string to six dual matches when they toppled previously unbeaten Titusville, 28 to 14, on the Beaty mats last Thursday night.

Dragon wrestlers pinned three opponents and won four decisions in the 11 matches.

Jim Olson, 185 lb., ended the dual match with a first period pin. John Colvin, 138 lb., pinned his man in the second period and Bob

IT WAS HOT in this narrow area for a while, Friday evening, while Warren firemen were snuffing out a fire in the back of the Exchange Hotel building. Electric wires located behind the Hedberg Gift Shop, caused the trouble. The hosemen soon knocked it down and prevented a duplication of the Carver Hotel disaster. The entire building was filled with smoke and all guests were quickly removed to the street. Damage may have exceeded $1,000.

SORE SPOT. The firemen made it but the press waited for the train to go by. This was shot during a fire run to the West Side, and explains why it is necessary for the West Side station to have an adequate pumper and equipment.

THE SECOND BLAZE in the Exchange Hotel last Friday was traced to the upper closet in this portable closet. Obviously it had been set. The closet was located in an unoccupied front room on the second floor. It contributed to the smoke clouds of the evening, but was removed to the street without causing any flame damage to the building. Meanwhile, police were drawn from traffic direction to investigate a robbery across the street in Mullen's Drug store. An armed bandit had relieved the safe of $600. Quite an evening.
